

Abundance: Sustainable Fossil-Free Food

Mark Edwards

*Professor, Strategic Marketing and Sustainability
Morrison School of Agribusiness and Resource Management
College of Technology and Innovation
Arizona State University*

In this talk, Edwards discusses how we can grow healthier foods, feeds, fertilizers, nutraceuticals, cosmeceuticals, medicines, and vaccines with abundant resources that will not run out.

Edwards writes, speaks, and consults globally on sustainable food and energy. He has authored nine books on sustainable and affordable food and energy. His book Green Algae Strategy won the Independent Publisher Gold Medal for Best Science Book in 2009. His most recent book, Abundance: Sustainable Fossil-Free Foods with Superior Nutrition and Taste, won the Pinnacle Gold Medal for the Best Environmental Book of 2011.
