7:00 p.m. showtime

The documentary Dog by Dog aims to wake up the American public to the realities of puppy-mill industry. While many documentaries have exposed the public to the underworld of puppy mills, missing from the public discussion has been an examination of the umbrella of monetary support that has sentenced millions of healthy dogs to death and allowed the most irresponsible dog breeders to thrive.

In contrast, there are many people trying to save these animals one by one, or dog by dog. Join us for the Arizona premiere of this timely film.

Post-film discussion with the film's producer, James Waters, who led Dog by Dog's undercover assignments, Michael Morefield (Arizona Welfare League), and Kellye Pinkleton, Arizona State Director of the Human Society of the US.
