

What Polarized Country? Clean Energy - The Great Convener

Peter Byck

Director and Producer, Carbon Nation

After two and half years of touring with Carbon Nation, Peter Byck has realized that liberals and conservatives in the U.S. are not polarized—there is, in fact, vast agreement that we should champion clean energy and energy efficiency. Join us for an engaging discussion on the “great convener.”

Peter Byck, director of Carbon Nation, has presented his film at Boeing, Nike, Google, Microsoft, Shell, the House of Commons, U.S. Embassies in London, Berlin, and Vienna—in addition to universities across the world. He recently appeared on “Real Time with Bill Maher” and NPR’s “Science Friday.”
