

Climate Change: What's Love Got to Do with It?

Larky Hodges

Climate Reality Leader

Convincing deniers that climate change is real and mainly due to mankind's use of fossil fuels is a challenge. This talk will explore a new tactic: personalizing climate change. What things do you love most? How will they be endangered by rapid climate change? Building upon lessons learned from Al Gore's Climate Reality training, Larky Hodges will share her own conversation starters, while encouraging the audience to build personal approaches to build consensus on this seminal issue of our age.

Larky Hodges is a local climate activist, green-living consultant, and storyteller.

Thursday, November 7, 2013
12:00 - 1:30 p.m.

Wrigley Hall, Room 481
Arizona State University, Tempe campus
(lunch will be provided)

RSVP link: Download any free QR-Code reader app to your smart phone. Scan this code and it will take you directly to the RSVP page.

RSVP: sustainabilityevents@asu.edu

Parking and directions: sustainability.asu.edu/directions

For more information about this and other events, visit sustainability.asu.edu/events

The Sustainability Series is presented by ASU's Global Institute of Sustainability.