

EEB Hub: A Test Bed for Nationwide Energy Efficiency

Henry Foley

*Vice President for Research and Dean of the Graduate School
Penn State University*

Foley oversees Penn State's research enterprise and has served as director of the Center for Academic Excellence in Intelligence Studies, dean of College of Information Sciences and Technology, and head of the Department of Chemical Engineering. His extensive industrial experience includes working for the American Cyanamid Company and consulting with many others. Foley has authored over 100 papers, holds nearly 20 patents and, in February 2011, became the executive director of the Energy Efficient Buildings (EEB) HUB through the US Department of Energy.

In this talk, Foley will discuss successes at the EEB Hub and the potential of a mini-EEB Hub at Arizona State University. The EEB Hub is a collaboration of major research universities, industrial firms, and national labs.

Wednesday, May 1, 2013

11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Wrigley Hall, Room 102

Arizona State University, Tempe campus

(lunch will be provided)

RSVP link: Download any free QR-Code reader app to your smart phone. Scan this code and it will take you directly to the RSVP page.

RSVP: sustainabilityevents@asu.edu

Parking and directions: sustainability.asu.edu/directions

For more information about this and other events, visit sustainability.asu.edu/events