

In Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for
Barrett, the Honors College

Daniella Simari

Will defend her creative project

Fair Trade: History, Ethics & Impact

Abstract

This 1-credit course will cover the history, ethics and impact of the fair trade movement for a variety of stakeholders in the Global South and Global North. We will participate in various activities that will acquaint us with different topics, including globalization, the gender wage gap, environmental degradation and supply chain management. Guest speakers from the fair trade community will contribute their perspectives regarding the movement. Students will gain an understanding of the tradeoffs of the fair trade movement for the different actors throughout the length of the supply chain.

Wednesday, April 17th, 2019
3:00pm
WGHL Room 102

Faculty, students, and the general public are invited.

Honors Thesis Committee:

Dr. Hallie Eakin
Dr. Molina Walters