

Asian Perspectives on Sustainable Development

Pamela Mar

*Fellow, Fung Global Institute
Project Director, Fung Group*

Asia is forecasted to become a major driver of global economic growth, while simultaneously making significant strides in environmental protection and social development. Asia needs to rethink how it grows to ensure that social progress and environmental protection can coexist and even reinforce business activity.

In this talk, Pamela Mar will highlight the leveraging factors that will impact Asian development and discuss how business, policymakers, and civil society can help spur a more sustainable growth.

Pamela Mar's work focuses on Asian development, corporate sustainability, international trade, economics, and strategy. Pamela has authored several books, including Global Future: The Next Challenge of Asian Business.

Thursday, March 28, 2013
9:00 – 10:30 a.m.

Wrigley Hall, Room 481
Arizona State University, Tempe campus
(breakfast will be provided)

RSVP link: Download any free QR-Code reader app to your smart phone. Scan this code and it will take you directly to the RSVP page.

RSVP: sustainabilityevents@asu.edu

Parking and directions: sustainability.asu.edu/directions

For more information about this and other events, visit sustainability.asu.edu/events

The Sustainability Series is presented by ASU's Global Institute of Sustainability.