

International Trends in Green Building

Thomas Mueller

President & CEO, Canada Green Building Council

The presentation will cover international trends and innovations in the green-building industry as well as new opportunities for green-building collaboration with Arizona's second-largest trading partner, Canada.

Mueller has over 15 years of experience in sustainable-resource management and planning for urban sustainability in local government, consulting, and nonprofit environments. He is president of the Canada Green Building Council, a national coalition of building-industry leaders who advance and mainstream green-building design.
